MALLORYCOURT (MALLORYCOURT)

What's in this month's magazine

It's not often readers get in touch to say how much they've liked a particular article, so it was pleasing to get a positive comment about the 'Looking Back' piece. This month's excerpt from the past is from November 1978 when the building of the M40 was controversial. The echoes from the past are there to be heard! See page 17. There's also some mystery ladies on page 7—can you name them?

The Bling and Gin crew, otherwise known as the WI. show off their capacity to have a discerning quaff and flash expensive jewellery. See pages 20 & 21.

I'm a great admirer of Steve's Nature Page, especially his drawings. He's gone all exotic and twitchy this month with tales of a Black Headed Ibis. I'm enjoying finding a poem that matches the subject, so a Sacred Isis features. See pages 24 & 25.

Elaine's piece reflects on the importance of history and our ability to learn from it. From Guy Fawkes and an age of religious intolerance to World War 1, and subsequent conflicts, the act of remembrance is only as useful as our ability to avoid past mistakes. See the next two pages.

The magazine in your hands has cost around 40p so that's £4.00 per year. Please read the notice on page 31 about how the magazine is run and funded, and give generously to keep the magazine financially viable. You should have found the envelope in your copy to put your kind gift into.

THANKS AND HAPPY READING.

History counts?

By Revd. Elaine Scrivens

Where did last month go – the weeks are flying by? Suddenly its November, and those endless weeks of Sundays after Trinity come to an end and we enter this month of remembering.

I've always been fascinated by history and quotes about history, from Henry Ford's famous quote, "History is more or less bunk. It's tradition. We don't want tradition. We want to live in the present and the only history that is worth a tinker's dam is the history we made today."

To that of Martin Luther King's, "We are not makers of history. We are made by history."

What's the point of Remembering? What's the point of history?

So in this month of November, this month of Remembering, I'd like to reflect on:

"What's the point of Remembering? What's the point of History?"

On All Saints Day (1 November) we remember all the saints, known and unknown. As the New Testament refers to all true believers as saints, this day gives us the opportunities to remember and honour all Christians both past and present, those who have maybe influenced our lives. But the New Testament also reminds us that we today are called to be "saints", holy people, men, women and children through whom the light of Jesus Christ shines.

Guy Fawkes' Night (5 November) originates from the Gunpowder Plot of 1605, a failed conspiracy by a group of English Catholics to assassinate the Protestant King James I of England and replace him with a Catholic head of state. After Guy Fawkes had been caught guarding a cache of explosives placed beneath the House of Lords, the public were encouraged to celebrate the king's survival with bonfires. What I never realised was that 5th November was kept as a day of thanksgiving when everyone was expected to attend church and a new form of service was added to the Church of England's Book of Common Prayer, for use on that date!

For many people perhaps the most significant and poignant remembering takes place on 10 and 11 November, Remembrance Sunday and Armistice Day.

Last year was, of course, a very significant year as we remembered the end of the Great War. Here in the village I was deeply moved by the response of so many people. We installed our own Tachbrook Tommy and our display of knitted poppies was magnificent. However, also need to acknowledge that Remembrance Sunday commemorates not only the dead of the First World War but the Second World War and all those who have died in conflict since then. I did some research on this and discovered that since the end of the Second World War 7,149 British military people have died on active service outside England, Wales and Scotland. Three years ago (2016) was the first year since 1968 without a British soldier, sailor or airman being killed on operations; and 1968 was the only other year that has happened since the end of the Second World War. Sadly 2017 was only two days old when a 22 year old soldier serving with 2nd Battalion the Duke of Lancaster's Regiment was killed at a military base in Iraq and last year a British Soldier was killed in Syria. I have often wondered how many of those deaths might have been avoided if our political and military rulers had learned the lessons of history.

The last day of November is St Andrew's Day, Scotland's official national day and since 2006 an official bank holiday. To start with this may seem to be of interest only to Scots. But according to John's Gospel Andrew was the first Christian evangelist. On the very day when he first met Jesus, he went at once to his brother Simon Peter and told him "We have found the Messiah, the Christ". And then Andrew took his brother to Jesus. The rest, as they say, is history! That's how the Church began! I know, as a Christian, I am grateful to St Andrew.

After reflecting on:

"What's the point of Remembering? What's the point of History?"
I think that, as a Christian, I don't want to live in the past. But by being mindful of the past, and learning from the inspiration and example of those who have gone before us, hopefully we can avoid some of the mistakes made by our forefathers and foremothers, and my prayer is that by "standing on the shoulders of giants," we can both grow in our own faith and hopefully looking ahead can also introduce others to the love of God.

Love and prayers, Elaine

VOLUNTEER TO HELP THE MAGAZINE

This magazine is run by a dedicated group of non-paid volunteers. From producing articles, to magazine design and layout, to proof reading, to advertising coordination, to distribution we are a group of people who care about our community.

We continuously need more help to share the load so, if you're a person with a social conscience who doesn't mind actually doing some work for the community why not volunteer. You could:

- Help deliver magazines—especially important as the parish community south of Harbury Lane continues to grow
- Take on the role of advertising coordinator
- Join the magazine steering group
- Write articles about life in the new areas of the parish.

Parish Council News

By Matt Greene

It won't be too long before we start thinking about Christmas and the end of the decade - time really does fly! This decade (and the vicennium) has been defined by change on a local, national and international level. Population growth and technological advancement has changed how and where we both live and work advancements to be proud of and that have enriched the lives of many. However, we have also seen negative impacts in terms of rising inequality, mental wellbeing, damage to our environment and a feeling of powerlessness to address these issues or impact/control the change.

In the coming decade we will have opportunities to shape some of these aspects within our local community, including - completing the Neighbourhood Plan that all residents will have the opportunity to discuss and vote on, shaping the Country park to give everyone access to safe green amenity space, playing our part in tackling the climate crisis by embracing the ideas of residents as to how we can make our community more sustainable. If you have other, positive, ideas as to how we can work together as a community to shape the coming decade please do let us know.

It is hoped that plots on the Holt Avenue allotment site will finally become available in December. If you are interested in one of these allotment plots please email the clerk at clerk@bishopstachbrook.com. If number of residents interested exceeds plots available then a ballot will take place once the land has been transferred to us.

The accounts for 2019/10 have been signed off, without qualification, by the external auditor. Information will be made available on the noticeboard or the website.

Cadent Gas have been asked to resurface the footway by St. Chad's Church as it is very uneven. County Cllr. Caborn recently toured the Parish with the new head of County Highways pointing out the need for a drop kerb on Farm Walk and The Lees, a drop kerb on Othello Avenue near where the school bus collects children - safe access for pedestrians on Oakley Wood Road across/down the bank near the Leopard and traffic calming, bus shelter and a footway on Harbury Lane were also discussed. Cllr. Caborn is also arranging for either a camera or tapes across Harbury Lane to record the speed vehicles along this road.

Cllr. Connon has made councillors aware of a lack of bins on the new developments. Cllr. Caborn has said that new bins cannot be requested until the roads on the new developments have been adopted by the County Council. Developers tend to request that the roads are adopted once all development has finished – which is, in reality, a good answer for the Councils and thus taxpayers.

Repairs will take place shortly on the ladder in the toddler play area. There will be no guarantee for how long this will last but we are hopeful that the refurbishment will take place shortly. Councillors are in discussions with the District Council and Sports England to try and move this project forward and we will update residents further soon.

The trees on the embankment between the Meadow and Oakley Wood Road will be cut to approximately 4 feet for safety reasons. Reluctantly we have asked for the moles to be removed from the play area and football pitch.

We are still waiting for the noticeboard on the BMX track and the one on Warwick Gates to be removed for refurbishment. The noticeboard by the shop also needs attention (due to unauthorised persons gaining access), this remedial work has been requested.

Repairs have taken place on the outdoor gym equipment, please do let the clerk know (clerk@bishopstachbrook.com) if there are any issues with this equipment.

Cllr. Herbert attended the community forum and brought issues regarding anti-social behaviour to the attention of the Police - they have said that they will be patrolling the village.

The County and District Councils are aware of the problems raised by residents with the Severn Trent site in the parish and the environmental officer is investigating. The councils have also been clearing paths of leaves as they can be slippery.

Thanks to Cllr. Bullen, the building of the storage unit has commenced - this should be finished before Christmas and then we can start moving in. The car park near the Meadow allotments is also nearly finished. The builders are trying to assist with the Mares Tail problem.

Our next meeting will be on Thursday 14 November at 7.30pm in St. Chad's Centre.

History Group - Soundscapes of Execution during the English Reformation

By Felicity

Eleanor Hedges is a PHD researcher based in the Music & History departments at the University of Birmingham. She is part of a multidisciplinary area of research that contributes to the field of historical studies. Her research specifically looks at hearing sounds from the past, focusing on crime and punishment during the English Reformation.

With the advent of the printing press publishing became cheaper so we have the written lyrics, songs & "penny" pamphlets of the time. Ellie has used these to reveal the noisiness of the time. An example of this is a document in 1574 that prisoners in Newgate prison in London that prisoners should sing psalms twice a day. Presumably to encourage harmony.

Pamphlets related to executions were usually circulated after the after the death of a prisoner ,they were designed to entertain, but also as a severe warning to potential wrong doers, as well as morally elevating.

During the 16th & 17th centuries there was considerable religious, political & social tension in England and the rest of Europe. Ellie's view is that there is a lot of information to be had from studying the noisiness and disharmony of the period.

Henry VIII's failed attempt to divorce his Catholic Queen, Catherine led to a break with the Pope and the Roman Catholic Church with Henry separating the whole of England from Rome and making himself Head of the Church of England. This was to cause a real problem for English Catholics who were later expected to swear allegiance to the crown.

When Catherine's daughter, Mary, ascended the throne in 1553 she set about re-establishing Catholicism. During her reign about 300 protestants were burnt at the stake for heresy.

When Elizabeth ascended the throne in 1558 she was tolerant of Catholics, provided they swore loyalty to the throne. This, of course, posed problems for many Catholics, as this meant swearing allegiance to the Head of the Church of England. Catholic plots, aided by Spain, to overthrow her and replace her with a Catholic monarch, changed things considerably. Catholics with their links with foreign Catholic monarchs, were perceived as traitors, who were set to re-establish Catholicism in England.

During her reign 120 traitors & 60 recusants (those who refused to swear loyalty to the crown) were executed.

She was succeeded by James I, who initially tolerated Catholics. Alas, things soon deteriorated and more "traitors" were executed due to the threat posed to the crown.

The execution of religious dissidents could be considered controversial, as the state executed them for treason and heresy, the condemned and their followers saw them as innocent victims of religious persecution.

These executions were public events designed to humiliate the prisoner. When he or she arrived at the gallows they were allowed to address the audience. This followed a set pattern that included a statement of repentance and loyalty to crown. This was followed by a sermon by a preacher and prayers by the audience. This was followed by the execution which for traitors was hanging, drawing and quartering. The nobility were beheaded. Both Catholics and Protestant prisoners sang songs to express their religious identity and autonomy at the moment of their execution. It may also have been to feel comfort and closeness to God in a moment of extreme adversity.. Music had the most powerful and emotional effect on the audiences.

Protestants sang psalms during their procession and at their place of execution. In Colchester, which was one of the epicentres of Protestantism during the reign of Mary, the crowd shouted prayers and words of encouragement while their fellow coreligionists burnt in the flames.

Catholics on the other hand chanted the Latin liturgy on the way to the scaffold .An example of this is that of two catholic priests executed at Tyburn in 1601 who sang part of the Easter day liturgy ..."In this day that the Lord had madeth let us rejoice and be glad in it"..., signifying to the audience that they rejoiced at their death, thus aligning themselves with Jesus Christ, the ultimate martyr.

The priest Thomas Garnet, executed in 1608 due to his supposed involvement with the Gunpowder Plot, sang the Catholic hymn sung during the missionary oath at St. Albans seminary in Spain. In this priests vowed to return to England to spread Catholicism, root out heresy and carry out his duties as servants of God.

Communal reaction to the public execution was often different. Protestant burnings often sparked significant outrage amongst the crowds, while Catholic executions were often met with silence or hostility towards the prisoner.

Finally, we would like to thank Eleanor for her interesting & confidently presented lecture.

Excerpts from past magazines

Concerns about road building from November 1978 THE OTHER SIDE OF THE MOTORWAY

I wonder if any of the Anti-Motorway supporters witnessed the procession of vehicles, when the police were forced to divert some of the normal A41 traffic through the village last week following the first of three separate accidents which have occurred on this stretch of road within the last seven days. If they did, I wonder if they may have thought , however briefly, that just perhaps a motorway is warranted between Warwick and Oxford. I know they would have second thoughts if whenever they wanted to get out of their gateways onto the road they had to wait for anything up to a hundred vehicles to pass before finding a gap.

As far as the route of the motorway is concerned, those who campaign on the one hand it is wrong to encroach on more land than is necessary, but then in turn round and advocate the local solution of the problem as being to abandon the Banbury Spur as part of a Motorway and to build a new road from Longbridge alongside it purely to divert the line three and four hundred yards farther from the village must suffer from a split personality.

I wonder if say 25% of the money which would be saved by using the original preferred route to the possible revised one were to be made available to the village what the reaction would be. We live 190 yards from the A 41 and without the benefits of double glazing or the road being in a cutting we are never disturbed by either noise or fumes. The volume of traffic using this road warrants the building of a motorway if only to save accidents and lives.

Women's Institute

By Anne Allen

What a lot has happened since last month. Not only did we have a trip to the Cotswold Distillery and Wichford Pottery, we've had a brilliant (in more ways than one) visit to Pragnell's, attended the annual Group Meeting, learnt about Sex and the Tudors some of us have also been Nordic walking and block printing.

Bling and Gin, the WI on the razzle

Thanks to Marion driving the mini bus we were able to enjoy the visit to the distillery without any worries. After being given a tour of the site we were taught the art of tasting. First a whiskey, then a gin. Following this we were able to try what we liked.

Needless to say some, and I'm mentioning no names, tried more than others. This was followed by a nice lunch and visit to the shop, then on to Wichford for a bit of retail therapy.

The next week we visited Pragnell's in Stratford. I ,personally, had never been inside the shop although it appears I'm wearing a ring from there. We were welcomed with champagne and had the chance for a good look around before manager Dennis Lavery explained about the company rise from a family business to having premises not only in Stratford but also Leicester and Mayfair. We were then allowed to try various items on ranging from the new collection to antique. At one point I was wearing over £1,500,000 and that was a ring and bracelet. Afternoon tea was superb and we all came away talking about everything.

October is our annual meeting when we re-elect our committee and president. This year we've lost two members but gained one. Various reports were read, the secretaries tells what we have done over the last twelve months and the presidents thanks everyone for their help and support. As you know, we've learnt a lot, done a lot ,eaten a lot and drunk a lot . Mainly we've had a lot of FUN. Janette stepped down as president and after an election I was voted in. (That makes me sound like Donald Trump but my hair is better.)

Forthcoming county outings and visits include serious science lectures on the Cumbrian Explosion of life and Digital Autopsy, lunch with not only Paul Martin but next April Rev Richard Coles, how to use kalette, and next years County Show.

The walking netball group was started by WI but is open to all and meets at 9:30 on a Monday morning at the Sports and Social Club. If you fancy giving it a try just turn up.

We have plans underway for our December Christmas Party . This is an evening of fun and food. If you would like to join us it's only £6:00. Just give me a ring before hand. It's a great way to meet us all in a very relaxed atmosphere.

Reasons to consider joining WI:- If you are new to the village it's a perfect way to make friends and have a bit of fun. We are all ages so please don't think you are too old or too young. We have many different skills and abilities, the main one being chatting You don't even have to know how to make jam or sing Jerusalem. Everyone is welcome. Please give me a call if you've any queries.

Nature Page

By Steve Harvey

If You like a rare bird then I've got news for you!
I'll tell you in a bit so don't read ahead and spoil it.

Just before first light as the trees begin to reveal their shapes a welcome sound floats from the spinney and past the Cedar tree then in through the bedroom window.

The Owls are coming home! A soft "Woo, who" and the first Owl has landed. It calls again and its partner answers with the same call. A little further away the "Keeik" of the youngsters. They've been out all night hunting for mice and voles. Now, as we face getting out of bed for a cuppa tea the Owl family prepare to settle down to sleep.

I had a call from Lesley. She had found a tiny Hedgehog in the middle of the road not far from us. It wasn't moving but didn't appear injured. I guess it was just frozen to the spot with fear. Lesley picked it up and saved its life! I popped round to collect it and was surprised at how tiny it was. It easily sat in the palm of my hand and weighed about 15gms, that's half the minimum weight to survive the winter. I passed it onto an expert I'd been told about. She turned out to be an amazing lady, a bit like Mrs. Tiggywinkle herself, living in a little stone cottage with a black cat, spending her time looking after Hedgehogs. When I arrived the little Hedgehog was carefully inspected then injected with fluids to rehydrate it. It was popped into a red woollen hat Mrs Tiggywinkle had knitted earlier (of course she had!. This was just like walking into a Beatrix Potter book - how lovely). A heat pad was added and into a box in the living room it was put. A few days later I called to see how it was doing. She said, "Just fine and she's putting on weight". All being well she will be released here.

Just a quick thought. If you are going to build a bonfire soon, if you can, leave the actual building until the day of the fire, that way Hedgehogs won't get a chance to creep into the pile thinking it's a safe place to hibernate.

Right then, that rare bird! I was approached by Terry in Bishop's Tachbrook. He had a tale to tell of a very unusual bird in his garden. Now, when you're used to seeing Bluetits and Robins to look out of the window and see a white bird, with a black head and a very long beak standing about 75cms tall, or to me about 2ft 6ins. it's certainly eye catching. Even more surprising this bird was a Black-headed Ibis common on the Indian sub-continent. How did it get this far? The Ibis stalked the fish in the pond but didn't catch any, then flew up on the garage roof. The 'Google Machine' was called for. There I found these birds had been kept in Europe and escaped since the 1800s. There are colonies in France so this one may have escaped from an English collection or crossed the Channel. If only the twitchers had known Tachbrook would have been gridlocked!

I do remember many, many years ago when I worked in Alveston I grabbed my pushbike to cycle home only to look up in time to see a Pelican flying overhead! Who knows where that came from! That's probably the first time and last time I'll ever see a 'Pelican crossing' above me!

Poetry please On seeing White Ibis

By Francis Duggan

I've seen them out by Woori Yallock way

On insects, grubs and grasshoppers they prey

In mid November latter days of spring A time of year when young birds take to wing.

White Ibis is the name most know them by

Though others call them sacred wonder why?

Some say the sacred link could easily be

With famed sacred ibis of Egyptian antiquity.

Juveniles with more dark on them than white

And large flocks of them quite a familiar sight

I love to watch them floating in the sky As they do look very graceful as they fly.

They build their nests on trees by inland lake

And hoarse like grunts the only sound they make

The sacred ibis birds i often see In suburban park or way out the country.

Sick BY SHELL STLVERSTON

"I cannot go to school today," Said little Peggy Ann McKay. "I have the measles and the mumps, A gash, a rash and purple bumps. My mouth is wet, my throat is dry, I'm going blind in my right eye. My tonsils are as big as rocks, I've counted sixteen chicken pox And there's one more--that's seventeen, And don't you think my face looks green? My leg is cut--my eyes are blue--It might be instamatic flu. I cough and sneeze and gasp and choke, I'm sure that my left leg is broke--My hip hurts when I move my chin, My belly button's caving in, My back is wrenched, my ankle's sprained, My 'pendix pains each time it rains. My nose is cold, my toes are numb. I have a sliver in my thumb. My neck is stiff, my voice is weak, I hardly whisper when I speak. My tongue is filling up my mouth, I think my hair is falling out. My elbow's bent, my spine ain't straight, My temperature is one-o-eight. My brain is shrunk, I cannot hear, There is a hole inside my ear. I have a hanguail, and my heart is--what? What's that? What's that you say? You say today is. . . Saturday? G'bye, I'm going out to play!"

Notice Board

If you are wondering what to do with your spare time, why not knit a few Angels for the children of the village. This was started a couple of years ago by our Vicar as a surprise for the children on the last day of term. So far we have about 300 but more are needed. They can be as colourful as you like and a perfect way to use up odds and ends of wool. We could even supply the wool if needed.

Please give me a ring for more details. Anne Allen 424135.

Parish Magazine helping with your money - fundraising 2019

It now costs over £6,500 to provide 10 editions per annum, free of charge, to every household in our growing Parish. Two thirds of the costs are covered by the wonderful individuals, organisations and companies who place adverts with us. In addition the Parish Council has added its support with a grant of £1000. However, each year we still need to raise at least £2,000 from our readers to break even.

So please can you make a gift to help our Parish Magazine? It couldn't be easier, please put your gift in the envelope provided. If you are a taxpayer please sign the Gift Aid declaration. For every £1 you give we can claim a further 25p in Gift Aid. If you're not a taxpayer don't worry please still put your money in the envelope.

Please drop your envelope into any one of the following addresses: The Vicarage, 19 Argyle Way, 5 Blakemore Drive, 8 Savages Close, 3 Hassell Close, 5 Birch Court, Heathcote Park, 4 Dogberry Way, Warwick Gates, 21 King Edward Drive or the bucket at St Chad's Church or the village shop.

If every household gave 40pence per issue i.e. £4 then together we'd cover what we need. If some could give more, that would effectively cover for those people unable to give this year.
